

DECADION 2.2 (M&E 602) - The MP3 Collection

1. Mick Magic & Lord Litter (England / Germany) - "State Of The Art"
* An interesting little curio to open proceedings; the base of this is my original (pre-MMATT) demo of the song (February 1987), enhanced some four years later with the guitar, keys and vocals of the great man himself. Enjoy muchly, then on with the show...

Trevor Hall

English singer/songwriter that either recorded under his own name and/or that of The Third State. Also active back in the day, running Obscure Delight Tapes and producing a zine called Second Avenue.

Sphinx

Aka Jay Scott of Network 77 in South Africa, our sole release from the 'dark continent'.

The track numbers place these bands in chronological order, according to their first release on the label.

The prefix of each file name is the catalogue number of that first release. At the very beginning (not as far back as dinosaurs or anything), the label shared the 'Magic Moments At Twilight Time' name with the band. The first prefix we used was simply 'C' for cassette, before moving on to 'MMATT' (we worked for months on that one), in July 1988, when the label went all official like. In April 1992, the label embraced the global underground movement and became Music & Elsewhere. The rest as they say, is history...

The Disc;

LightScribe discs are a little prone to fading over time, so it's worth taking a few precautions with them. It's heat and light that do the most damage (lucky they're not read by lasers, eh?), so don't leave them in players for long periods, take it easy with use in cars and don't leave them on windowsills in glorious sunshine.

Apparently, even residual chemicals from your fingers can cause fading, common ones found in such everyday items as hand lotions and hair care products. So, if you avoid the sunlight, have dry skin and your hair looks like a haystack, at least your M+E CDR will look cool...

84. M&E 360 Operattack (England) - "My Sweet Denier"
85. M&E 368 Ignite (Australia) - "Tonight"

The Witches

The wondrous melodic gothic rock of Polish sisters, Izabella Bellatrix and Aleksandra Templar, the latter sadly no longer with us. A great personal favourite of mine.

Otherworld

Aka the delightful and hugely talented Clare Durrant, who I had the pleasure of meeting back in 1995.

Steve Andrews

The enigmatic Bard Of Ely. Seriously, what could I say about the man that hasn't already been said? Total fucking legend...

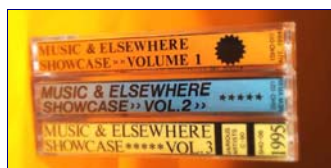

86. M&E 377 Wild Rain (England) - "Where Did The Time Go?" (live, from VHS)
(* this isn't the best of recordings, but it was the only one I could find for now, and I particularly wanted to include a track by the band in memory of talented young frontman, Matt Scales...)
87. M&E 381 Our Glassie Azoth (Wales) - "Our Glassie Azoth" (edit)
88. M&E 382 Nova Galaxie Robotnik (England) - "Inside"

105. M&E 582 The Den (England) - "Pissing In The Sonic Temple"

Wild Rain

This promising combo came to us when they were all around 16-17 and already sounded impressive. In spite of being a little outside of our more usual musical territory, I was impressed by their youthful enthusiasm and talent and decided to give them a go. They topped the M&E chart in May 1997. Tragically, lead singer and guitarist, Matt Scales, died from a complication of cystic fibrosis, before he was out of his twenties...

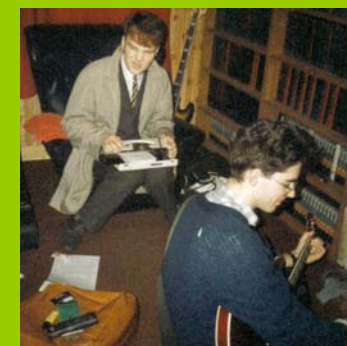

M&E SHOWCASE

Although we no longer release new material, we do more than just go on about the good old days, promise. Though we do a fair amount of that, I confess. The underground continues to live and breathe, so we do an online Showcase series to give you a sneaky peek at what's going down here and now in the present. You'll find all the details on our site, www.mickmagic.net, just click on the 'Showcase' link on the menu bar. Enjoy muchly!

"Dark Side Of The Sausage" - Christ & Satan (MMATT 28, March 1989)

1. "God" / "I Want To Eat Your Glenn Miller Collection"
2. "Santa Claus Is The Anti-Christ"
3. "Terry"
4. "Lisanne 2"
5. "Angel Of Death"
6. "The Hitler Youth Christmas Carol Choir Featuring Satan"

Although merely a 12 minute cassette EP, and then only half of a double pack at that, this release remains a significant part of M&E history, being the very first one produced 'out of house'. Although, and perhaps ironically, it was recorded in my house; it was entirely written, performed and produced by the Church Crookham duo of Philip Hutchinson (in the Columbo raincoat) and Peter Hussey, my sole contribution being "give me a fucking mince pie" on "Santa Claus Is The Anti-Christ". The band went on to produce a full album for us, the rather wonderful "Please Don't Touch My Yoghurt" (MMATT 32) in October 1989, presented to us as a finished master, thus setting the model for the M&E of the future, on which it was reissued as M&E 042 in July 1992. This mini masterpiece, however, never saw the light of day again... UNTIL NOW!

MUSIC & ELSEWHERE - THE GUEST ARTISTS

“Grain-Aid!” (MMATT 19)

* Cyanide Scenario were an earlier version of Alex Cable’s Internal Autonomy, Mal Cieslak was half of Leviathan

“The Guilfin Benefit Tape” (MMATT 36)

* Howl In The Typewriter is, of course, the project of Stan Batcow, ex Membrane and the man behind the Pumf Records label

“The Radio Cracker Tape” (MMATT 37)

* Autonomex is Alex Cable again, who also released music on M&E under the name of Al.X

“The 2nd Guilfin Benefit Tape” (MMATT 38)

“The 3rd Guilfin Benefit Tape” (MMATT 40)

* Serious Plankton were the latest band of Chris Carter and Ian Merrick, both formerly with The Charles, the first other band we released any material by at all, way back in May 1987. One half of Lives & Times was Richard Wileman, who later went on to form Karda Estra

“The 4th Guilfin Benefit Tape” (MMATT 41)

“M&E Showcase Vol. 3” (SHO 06)

* Well, The Lord Litter Band did actually only appear on a Showcase, though we also released a number of Jörg’s solo albums, a split tape with The Conspiracy, an album with his earlier band, The Lazy Sleepers, and a couple from his time with Das Freie Orchester.

“M&E Audiozine No. 3” (M&E 419)

“M&E Audiozine No. 4” (M&E 434)

* Aka Kevyn Dymond of Guaranteed Cleveland Records, The Folkoffs and Barking Dogma, here enjoying a little classical anonymity

“M&E Audiozine No. 5” (M&E 435)

* Featuring the deliciously cool and psychedelically velvet vocals of Kava Kava’s Pat Fulgoni

“M&E Audiozine No. 7” (M&E 454)

* Sin Albert were an earlier incarnation of Space Invaders, who had released two albums with us by this point

“M&E Audiozine No. 10” (M&E 493)

* Winterfall were a folk group fronted by none other than Christ & Satan’s Philip Hutchinson after he grew up...

“M&E Audiozine No. 12” (M&E 495)

* Neo was actually Brian John Doran, previously frontman of Operattack, and the amazing operatic baritone that provided vocals for “The Torch” and backing on “Demonic Attack” for Magic Moments At Twilight Time’s 1995 album, “Creavolution” (MMATT CD1)

OUR GUESTS

Of course, not every band or artist we released on M&E did a whole album for us. So, I thought it would be nice to add an extra folder to cover some of those that have appeared as guests on our various compilations, the particular one they made their first appearance on being listed to the left. Where they have another M&E connection, I’ve added some explanatory notes in red, I’m nice like that. And that concludes our 12½ hour-ish journey through the annals of M&E history, I hope you will enjoy listening to it as much as I have enjoyed putting it together.
